

Why support Lancaster Seminary?

Lancaster Theological Seminary is a remarkable place. It is a diverse, nurturing community which uniquely prepares its graduates to serve in a pluralistic world. It offers compelling experiences like the required cross-cultural expedition; exposure to varied and sometimes challenging theological perspectives; and incomparable instructions from what one student has described as our "outrageously talented faculty."

Lancaster Theological Seminary is committed to providing a vibrant, inclusive community for learning and leading. Through innovative programs and outstanding faculty, we meet the needs of those who are called to a variety of ministries within our churches and communities. Over 3,000 individuals annually, youth through retirement age, engage in one or more of our programs.

Lancaster Theological Seminary is called to prepare women and men for leadership in faith-based vocations, whether through our Masters Degree, certificate, or continuing education programs. As we uphold this mission, we ask for your partnership through gifts to underwrite the distinctive educational and formative experiences that take place at Lancaster Seminary.

Your support ensures that thoughtful, capable, culturally-aware leaders will continue to meet the needs of our churches and communities, and carry the love of God into the world.

As the Apostle Paul proclaimed two millenia ago to faithful people: "How can we thank God enough for you." At Lancaster Theological Seminary, we too say thank you for your support.
